Baxter's 2023 collection evokes seascapes, cliffs and rugged coastlines. Designer Paola Navone's inspiration is evident in the 'Manila' chair, with its verdigris finish, which nods to the colours of the Mediterranean, and the terrazzo-style 'Matera' table in 'Palladiana Green', which references shells, rocks and beaches. Price on application (baxter.it).

1 The 'Kil' chair, designed by Marcello Ziliani for Ethimo, is stackable and its woven-rope backrest, combined with optional cushions, makes it supremely comfortable. It's available in a wide range of colours, too. From £1,320 (ethimo.com) 2 Looking for somewhere to rest your cocktail? Fermob's 'Cocotte' table is lightweight and portable, with a removable top that can double up as a serving tray. It comes in a staggering 24 colours, but we like this 'Acapulco Blue', approx £97 (fermob.com) 3 The 'Grand Bitta' sofa by Rodolfo Dordoni for Kettal is grand indeed: characterised by aluminium and teak legs, it's finished with braided polyester, reminiscent of the rope braiding used to secure boats. From approx £6,585 (kettal.com) 4 Sometimes, simple is best. Take this 'Marina' armchair by Indian Ocean, where the powder-coated, bronze frame adds a touch of warmth to all-weather white cushions. £2,095 (indian-ocean.co.uk) 5 The 'Atlante Light' daybed by Antonio Citterio for Flexform is cast in aluminium, with a seat and backrest made from a synthetic-fibre mesh that stands up to rain, humidity, mould and chlorine. £5,054 (flexform.it) ➤

The 'Kasbah' modular sofa by David Lopez Quincoces for Living Divani is one to consider if you're particular about your outdoor seating – multiple elements allow for myriad compositions. From approx £31,203, as pictured (livingdivani.it).
