■ 'ILDA' TABLES by Jean-Marie Massaud

The focal point of these exquisite tables, created by Poliform in collaboration with an artisanal foundry, are the handmade, asymmetric, branch-like bases in wrought bronze, supporting marble or resin tops. 'Ilda' tables, price on request, by Jean-Marie Massaud, for Poliform, poliform.it

■ 'DIEDRO' SIDEBORD by Pietro Russo

Russo has added a subtle lightness to this monumental sideboard, which features a geometric pattern formed from Taba Frisé white wood and Tanganika black wood, as well as black glass and mirrored interiors. 'Diedro' sideboard, £7,130, by Pietro Russo, for Gallotti & Radice, gallottiradice.it

■ 'GRAND SOFÀ' SERIES by Antonio Citterio

Vitra has collaborated with designer Antonio Citterio for more than 25 years, the brand's most durable design relationship to date. The latest collaboration is the 'Grand Sofà' series, which meshes modernity with comfort. 'When you think about a sofa, you have to think about how people live,' says Citterio, noting how the domestic use of a sofa has changed significantly over the years, the piece becoming the focus of a multi-functional family room. His design reflects these societal changes, serving as a generously proportioned soft platform for free time, with a modular composition that allows for multiple arrangements. 'Grand Sofà', from £5,090, by Antonio Citterio, for Vitra, vitra.com

■ 'ERA' ARMCHAIR by David Lopez Quincoces

We're used to the sleek, well-proportioned designs that David Lopez Quincoces has created for Living Divani over the years, and the new 'Era' armchair is proof of how well the designer and the brand work together. Spanish-born, Milan-based Lopez Quincoces created a sophisticated chair that pairs minimal tubular steel legs in gunmetal grey with a welcoming padded curved seat and back. Forming part of a product family that includes a dining chair and a coffee table and is characterised by the same slim lines, the 'Era' armchair is available in a discreet grey or rich burgundy, in fabric or leather upholstery. 'Era' armchair, €1,562, by David Lopez Quincoces, for Living Divani, livingdivani.it
