

Milan design week

'Vivace' chair, Armani/Casa

Bamboo, often representing good fortune in feng shui, is a recurring motif for the fashion house, having memorably featured on its wallcoverings, and one that is very on-trend for 2025. Here, the plant's stalks are represented in satin brass on the back of the luxurious seat, an extension to the table of the same name launched last year. Corso Venezia 14, armani.com

'Playing With Tradition', Jaipur Rugs

Dutch designer Richard Hutten is known for an idiosyncratic approach, and his new collection, which will be shown at the Indian brand's Milan showroom, takes the heritage of rug making and adds a zany twist. Expect traditional patterns subverted by vibrant confetti (a nod to the colourful Holi festival) and bananas. Via Marco Minghetti, jaipur rugs.com

'Nautical' collection, Officine Gullo

Hello, sailor! The last word in kitchen luxury is heading to the high seas, with a new collection that aims to end the days of the cramped and hidden galley and make cooking a part of the high-end yacht experience. Explore the fully customisable options, all crafted from corrosion-resistant stainless steel, at the brand's showroom. Via dell'Annunciata 12, officinegullo.com

'Kasumi' tables, Living Divani

Noa Ikeuchi and Tommaso Nani, the duo behind studio Mist-o, which is based between Tokyo and Milan, are adding some exciting new pieces to Living Divani's growing outdoor-furniture collection. These tables and an accompanying sofa are crafted from teak, with an aesthetic that combines the best of Italian and Japanese design principles. Salone del Mobile, Hall 11, Stands C15-D16, livingdivani.it

PICTURES: NEVILLE SUKHA

ELLE DECORATION

MAY 2025

HOME-OFFICE
IDEAS TO SPARK YOUR IMAGINATION

IS THE AGE
OF SCANDI
MINIMALISM
REALLY OVER?

HOW TO DECORATE
WITH DENIM
(NO DISTRESS)

KNOW THE NOW
AWARD-WINNING CREATIONS AND
THE LATEST FROM MILAN DESIGN WEEK